APPOINT CAPABLE MEN.

BEFORE THE ELECTION officers had finished counting the votes cast in the election last Tuesday the state officers were busy figuring out the lists of men who were to be appointed to the new city administration. There was talk of a clean sweep in every city department, of throwing out every man who has served under the Republican administration, of giving the victors the spoils down to the last small position.

It is on this point that The Herald desires to say a few words. Although from the partisan standpoint, the authority in the incoming administration will be divided, it is certain that the Democrats will be held responsible for its conduct. A Republican council will be inducted into office, but the people will look to the mayor and his associates on the city ticket for the greater part of any work for the betterment of Salt Lake.

The principle that authority should be with responsibility is recognized in public as in private life. We believe the Republican council will recognize the justice of the principle and that it will not wrangle over the appointments. Mr. Morris will send in for confirmation. The mayor will be entitled to a cabinet of his own selection, and the statements made by members-elect of the council indicate that he will have it.

It is very fortunate that Mr. Morris is not pledged to appoint any individual to any office within his gift. Neither is a single one of the other city officers so pledged. All are absolutely free to make their selections. They should, therefore, select only such men as are thoroughly competent to perform the services that will be required of them. Everything else being equal, the individuals who have aided most in the election of the ticket should be recognized, but the first test should be merit, not party loyalty or partisan service.

Let the mayor and the other officers who have patronage to bestow first inquire into the capacity of the respective applicants; then let them choose the best qualified. Appointments based on such grounds cannot fail to result in good to the city; appointments based on any other ground cannot fail to work harm.

REBELS ARE RECOGNIZED.

SO IT DEVELOPS that the request of the Panama rebels that this republic recognize their provisional government was not an impertinence at all. There is every reason to believe they were merely following out a carefully arranged programme. The insurgent government has been recognized, which means that the United States will do everything in its power to make the revolution a success. Panama will withdraw from the United States of Colombia, and we'll be given the privilege of paying $40,000,000 for whatever it is the Panama Canal company has to sell.

In addition the new republic of Panama, if the present hostilities down there should terminate in the creation of a new republic, will doubtless require us to pay it a liberal sum of money for the privilege of building and operating the canal. Now we have the reason why the president has waited so long before instituting negotiations with Nicaragua. He waited until he had sufficient ground for believing the rebellion would break out.

It is very well for the supporters of the administration's policy to urge that a few members of the Colombian congress should not be permitted to prevent the completion of a project of such world importance as the Panama canal, but there is something to be said on the other side of the subject. The Colombian majority was against the Hay-Herran treaty. We may speculate on the reasons for the attitude of the majority but we have no right to go behind the returns.

The treaty was defeated by the requisite number of votes. That should have settled the matter, though it would have been possible to reopen the case through the regular diplomatic channels. It is as wrong for the United States to recognize the Panama provisional government as it would be for England to recognize a provisional government for Utah. If this state should secede from the Union, And what a howl would go up if the latter suggestion became a fact; and what a just howl it would be, too.

This country wants the inter-oceanic canal badly, of that there can be no question, but the people do not want it badly enough to be guilty of underhanded dealings in securing it. It begins to look as if nobody can touch that Panama pitch without being defiled.

MORE PAY FOR SOLDIERS.

GENERAL FUNSTON comes out strongly in a recent report to the war department in favor of more pay for the private soldiers in the regular army. He calls attention to the fact that the proportion of desertions has increased at an alarming rate, while the greatest difficulty is experienced in securing re-enlistments and desirable recruits. The root of the trouble, General Funston believes, and with some justice, lies in the meager pay of the enlisted men.

He says that "the government cannot get something for nothing, any more than a railroad company or manufacturing concern can. When there is considered the amount of work they are required to do and the degree of intelligence necessary for the proper performance of their duties, the pay of the enlisted men of the army is ridiculously small. In many parts of the United States ignorant, unskilled laborers, working by the day, are able to save above their board and clothing twice the amount received by a private soldier on his second enlistment, and yet only a small percentage of these men could pass the test in a recruiting office."

New recruits now draw $13 a month, board and lodging included. After two years' service they receive $14, after three years $15 and after four years $16, with $2 added on re-enlistment at $1 on subsequent enlistments. About $20 a month is the most a private can hope to draw so long as he remains a private, and then only after a service covering a period of at least ten or twelve years. The sum seems entirely inadequate.

The average pay of an unskilled farm laborer is close to $25 a month, including board and lodging. An Irish farm laborer living in New York recently announced his intention to return to his native land to again take up his residence there. On astonishment being expressed, it developed that during a period of twenty-five years, at $300 per year and board, he had saved nearly $7,000. Your private soldier would hardly have been able to do anything like so well.

So if we are to have a standing army let us have the best possible material in it. We cannot get desirable men with the pay schedules as low as they are at the present time. The increase suggested by General Funston would amount to something like $4,000,000 a year with the present force. That isn't a very large sum for a government to pay for efficiency. A little judicious economy in other departments ought to save that much easily.

DISTRIBUTION OF INSANITY.

DR. WILLIAM A. WHITE, superintendent of the government hospital for the insane at Washington, recently addressed the National Geographic society on "The Geographical Distribution of Insanity in the United States." During the course of his talk Dr. White developed some interesting facts. He pointed out that the insane are distributed in the United States in a very uneven manner. The percentage of insanity is vastly larger in the cities than in the country, and that the number of insane people per 100,000 of population is much greater east of the Missouri river than west of it.

"Insanity is most frequent in the older civilizations, in the more thickly settled communities, in urban centers—in short, where competition is most active. Here the weakling, the man whose mental faculties are not quite up to grade, who is not able to hold his own in the struggle for existence, is crowded out, and the more vigorous, the more intelligent, the more successful, are the victors. Here are bred all the vices which only high grade of intelligence can call into being; stimulants, narcotics, drugs of all kinds are available to help the overburdened on their way, until at last they reach and bring about the destruction of the victims who fall a prey to these temptations, are the victims of an acquired predisposition."

Another interesting fact brought out by Dr. White was that 50 per cent of the nearly 25,000 insane persons in New York state are foreign-born. He accounted for this by calling attention to the undesirable character of the immigration with which the United States has been afflicted for several years past. If 50 per cent of the insane individuals in New York are of foreign birth, there is not much reason for believing the percentage varies greatly in other far eastern states.

It will not hold good in the west, however, and for this reason: The immigrants who come west are of sturdier build and more venturesome disposition than those who stay in the east. The western immigrant knows he must do hard work in the open air and he is prepared to undertake it. The eastern immigrant is usually an indoor worker, a narrow-chested, anemic man or woman predisposed to insanity and disease.

Dr. White does not consider the danger from immigration, great though it is, as great as the danger from the war. He aptly points out that in war it is the bone and sinew of the nation, the flower of the young men, that are cut off. Their places can never be filled, but the maimed, the diseased, the imbeciles, the degenerates we have always with us, in war as well as in peace.

An interesting thing about the extra session of congress lies in the fact that Congressman Howell will be compelled to vote either against the administration or against Utah's best sugar industry on the Cuban reciprocity question. Senator Kearns is already aligned with the cane sugar trust and the president. It shouldn't be hard to guess Senator Smoot's position. He is heavily interested in the Utah sugar company. But it is half owned by the trust, and the betting ought to be good that Senator Smoot will vote as Mr. Havemeyer would were he in the senate.

A Seattle woman who masquerades as a man has caused two girls to commit suicide because they thought they were in love with her. The police say they are unable to do anything to prevent a continuance of the masquerade. Well, they must be rather poor sort of police. If there is no law in Seattle, what sort of thing, the woman can at least be driven out of the city and to some place where there is a law to prevent women from trying to appear as men.

Richard Black of Philadelphia will never again try to talk with his mouth full of tacks. He tried to answer a question asked him by his wife while he was putting down a carpet. In the process a bunch of tacks slipped down his throat.

Richard should have remembered that only women can talk with their mouths full of tacks, pins, needles and the like.

It develops that the young Philadelphia millionaire who disappeared in the mountains of southwest Virginia has been captured by brigands and is being held for a ransom of $100,000. Can it be possible that there is a colony of Bulgarians in the Virginia mountains?

Young Mr. Golet petulantly denies that he has been married recently to the daughter of a restaurant keeper, which is probably a very good thing for the young woman.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

Greeting to Panama.
Says Uncle Sam: "Shake, old pal! Step right into my corral; My guest you'll be for a while. But you must excuse me, I'll finish work on the canal."

It looks as if the much-desired issue for next year's campaign has arrived—Panama.
Census enumerators in Pennsylvania could save themselves much work and worry by taking the vote cast by the automatic Republican machine and adding fifty or twenty to it to secure the total number of citizens of voting age in that state.

The backer of the machine has at least the consolation of knowing that some of the money was expended for the worthy purpose of electing a Democratic congressman in the person of Fernstrom.

The number of applications for appointments under the new city administration tends to prove that Knox got the best of the contest.

There is reason to believe that former Congressman Sutherland also voted for Morris.

While the control of the next city council is in doubt, it can be safely predicted that neither Sheets nor Hilton will control it.

It is well enough for that Philadelphia physical fivay say ought to have small brains, but if he is wise he will not say it to their faces.

Reports from Africa show that the natives are killing almost as many German soldiers there as the German non-commissioned officers are killing at home.

The Cubans may permit President Palma's veto of the lottery to pass without a stir, but if he values peace he should not monkey with cock fighting, the other national pastime.

The navy officials are not the only people who are worrying about coal supply these days.

Among others who have lately joined the ranks of those opposed to unions are the members of the United States Marine band, the National Federation of Musicians, and the National Federation of Music Teachers.

Unless the Chinese desire to aid in the accomplishment of Russia's designs, they will carefully abstain from a declaration of war.

The promptness, not to say alacrity, with which we have said "Howdy!" to some days previous that the revolution was to come off.

As Usual.

He went out with a big bag of money. And remained till the rise of the sun. He took in the whole town. And the next day he had felt so funny.

If this assimilation business keeps up it will soon be necessary to help the assimilation of an American to say whether he is white, black, yellow, brown, etc.

The absorption of Panama will prove a great hardship to the children of both countries. In addition to learning all about the philippines in what was the United States up to 1898 will have to study up De Lesseps and other national heroes of Panama, while the list of heroes that the little Panamanians will have to read up on is simply appalling.

The Panama hat market is not likely to be affected unless there should be a strike in the New York hat factories or a shortage in the hay crop of the Mississippi valley.

If Apostle Smoot's friends claim for him that he accomplished the discomfiture of Senator Kearns in Salt Lake, the Kearns people can come back by saying Kearns beat Smoot's man in the town. In both cases the citizens of the town win.

After all, it might not be so bad an idea to gather Panama in. That would enable us to "drive" our little white chrysantheums with fern and smilax. Banks of palms were in all the rooms, and in the dining room these were brightened by pink cosmos and American Beauty roses. Pink shades were used on the cardelabris in the dining room. In the library yellow was the color used, laid yellow chrysantheums being the favorite flower. The bride wore a dainty gown of lake green and white tulle. With this she carried a bouquet of white bride roses. Mr. and Mrs. Folland will be at home after Nov. 20 at 655 East Second South street.

The marriage of Thomas Marnane and Miss Anna Crofton was solemnized at the Catholic church Thursday evening. The Rev. Father Curran officiating. Mr. Marnane is a well known business man and Mrs. Crofton has been connected with the forwarding department of the postoffice for some time. The wedding will come as a surprise to their many friends.

Mrs. M. H. Walker entertained about twenty-five of her friends at an informal Kensington tea yesterday afternoon at her home on South Main street. The afternoon was passed in sewing and an impromptu musical programme was rendered.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Andrews entertained last evening at an informal style in honor of Mr. H. N. Herriman of Cleveland.

Mrs. Annie Knox of Logan, who has been visiting with Mr. F. A. Woolley of this city, returned last evening.

General Thomas King says he will not be a party to the suit mentioned above, but states that he will also bring a suit against the directory company. It will be an independent action, he states, and the charge will be criminal negligence. His name has been omitted entirely from the directory, a circumstance that causes the old veteran of a thousand fights in the corn belt humiliation. In discussing the matter, he made the point that the charge sometimes heard to the effect that the directory overestimated the population of the town is baseless. When they miss prominent people like himself, he says, there is no telling how many others may be left out, and for this reason he believes the directory estimate of population under rather than over the proper figure.

SOCIETY

One of the most delightful dancing parties ever given in Christensen's hall that of last evening, at which the two hosts were Mr. T. A. Stone and Mr. Harry Roberts. The big hall had been transformed into a bower with tall palms and many beautiful potted plants. The entire upper end of the hall was covered with rugs and arranged into an ample sitting room. This was partially screened from the broad dancing floor and formed a comfortable place for the weary dancers as well as the spectators. Beyond this on the raised platform the orchestra was stationed. Tall poles were arranged around the walls, and all the alcoves on the south were decorated with the plants. In the room on the east the supper was served in buffet style, and this room was done entirely in yellow. A vase of tall yellow chrysantheums formed a decoration and broad satin ribbons of the same shade crossed the table obliquely in stiff bows. In the ladies' dressing room the pink and white decorations were placed as decorations, and rows of the stately palms graced the hallways and entrances. Mrs. D. C. Roberts assisted the two hosts in receiving. Many very beautiful gowns were seen, and all in all, it was the most brilliant affair given in the city in many days. Over 100 guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Le Grand Young and the Misses Young entertained yesterday at the second of a series of luncheon parties at their home in Red Butte Hollow. The house was decorated throughout with chrysantheums, the pailor in white and small brains, but if he is wise he will not say it to their faces.

The guests numbered thirty and they were seated at four tables, one large and three small. The luncheon was served in the dining room in yellow. The guests numbered thirty and they were seated at four tables, one large and three small. The luncheon was served in the dining room in yellow.

The many old friends of Jessie Greenman, now Mrs. Edwin Greenman, who was a girl who had a heavy of them—were glad to welcome her back to Salt Lake, although only for a few days. She is with Mrs. McCullough, and a number of small entertainments are planned for her while she is here. Mrs. Forbes entertained at an informal Kensington in her honor yesterday. Mrs. Jack Sharp gives a small and informal Kensington for her today, and Dr. and Mrs. Mayor will give a dinner for her Sunday. Mr. Blair will return Monday evening from Denver and they will leave immediately for their home in San Francisco.

Mrs. Robert Glendinning has issued invitations for a Kensington to be given next Tuesday evening.

Miss Katherine Geddes leaves during the coming week for Denver, where she will be a guest for a few weeks of Mrs. Katherine Dillingham. Miss Dillingham will probably return and spend a part of the winter with Miss Geddes.

Mrs. G. B. Blackly returned yesterday from Lincoln, Neb., where she has spent the past month.

The P. E. O. society will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Christy, 205 East street.

Mrs. W. H. Wolfersberger of Denver is the guest for a few weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weir. Their guests will be at home as usual on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Armstrong are down from Park City and are settled in their new home at 65 G street.

The marriage of Miss Grace Freese and William Henry Folland took place yesterday at noon in the temple. It was followed in the evening by a reception at the home of the bride's mother. The reception hours were from 5 till 11 o'clock, and about 100 friends called during the hours to extend good wishes to the young people. They were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Folland and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Freeze. Miss Winnie Sudbury and Miss Emma McEwen had charge of the dining room and the Misses Vera Felt, Maud Freeze and Mercy Tuckett served punch. The prettiest of the bride's attendants for the affair. The parlor was done in tall white chrysantheums with fern and smilax. Banks of palms were in all the rooms, and in the dining room these were brightened by pink cosmos and American Beauty roses. Pink shades were used on the cardelabris in the dining room. In the library yellow was the color used, laid yellow chrysantheums being the favorite flower. The bride wore a dainty gown of lake green and white tulle. THE SHOE SALE CONTINUES.

The average is about one-fourth reduction. A heavy business is being done. The sale is the equal of the great Round-Up in the same section last summer.

The Bargain Window.
Our Bargain window is building reputation. It is a window that appeals to all the people because of its little prices. No matter how fortunate a man has been in obtaining a snare residence on East street, neither he nor his family can afford to purchase the things which are offered in this window. As well as one of average means, the things in this window are of the highest quality. People forget that we carry, as an atmosphere of style pervades the entire store. The very choicest merchandise is offered in this window. Picture frames from 75c to 45c, the very thing in which to encase a likeness of your mother-in-law.
Furriers, fine enough for the president—not Mr. Roosevelt—reduced from $2.50 to $1.50. Young men who are at a loss to know what to send as presents to loved ones might select articles more desirable than 50-cent shoes, which are reduced to 40c; 60-cent ones for 50c; a $1.00 skirt for 75c, or some of the 5-cent school handkerchiefs for 3c. Persons might think these articles are inappropriate, but a present which prompts it and not for its intrinsic value. But if anyone is going to send a present, suggest a dozen napkins—15c line white, reduced to $1.10, being reduced from $2.75.
No one will suffer with rheumatism if they buy sleep shoes, one of the flannelette gowns, reduced from 75c to 50c.
Men who are in a hurry and have no time to waste in getting into a pair of shoes, will be interested in union suits lowered to 35c from 50c.
